

FORBES

BUSINESS-FINANCE-BUSINESS OF LIFE

120 FIFTH AVENUE · NEW YORK

PUBLISHED TWICE A MONTH

B. C. FORBES, EDITOR

Nicolas Kage, London

SPECIAL LOW PRICE SUMMER OFFER.

We simply refuse to lose you as a subscriber.

Although we have sent you several notices that your subscription has expired, your renewal has not come in.

So we have come to this conclusion: You don't want to spend as much money right now as we ask for a full-term subscription.

That has now been remedied with this SPECIAL SUMMER OFFER:

16 issues for only $2.00 -- just one-half of what they would cost you on the newsstands.

Under this offer you will receive FORBES until early next year. By that time we surely hope you will continue as a full-term subscriber.

There is no need selling FORBES to you. You have had it. It has had many good ideas, much information on business and finance in it.

But I do want to suggest that you read and use every issue hereafter from cover to cover.

FORBES is being edited to meet the pressing problems of the present day -- to help business back to normal, to assist the businessman to get the greatest possible profits when profit-getting is hard.

You will find FORBES a practical, useful, concrete service worth many times the small price we ask for it.

Please return the enclosed bill with your remittance, and your subscription will be resumed at once.

Sincerely,

J. A. Klein

CIRCULATION MANAGER

Hermann Bell 440.9 - 7x

H. P. Hansen 277.8 - 65x

358.2 - 4x

A. Adelhaid 198.4 - 14x arms above head

Max Panthage 176.4 - 1x on one leg falls in hands

" 220.4 - 50x

E. Bondgoust 231.5 - 7x held at chest

" 330.7 - 1x held

A. Selos 385.8 - 1x

Curtis 3239 Kennedy 3231

Zattman 3400, Lett 3700

Walther? 3700