

Both Sides Hit In Fight Over P

By Bob Burchette, Staff Photographer

A Strong Librarian

James Bradford shows off the hands and forearms that enabled him to lift a total of 1085½ pounds at international weight-lifting competition in Warsaw earlier this month. Bradford, who works in the bindery at the Library of Congress, was a close second to the Russian representative, but hopes to defeat him in the 1960 Olympics. Story on Page A1.