

Dear Sir.—I enclose photo of myself, describing certain feats of strength. My first is tearing two packs of ordinary playing cards both together behind my back and also in front. Next breaking an ordinary horse shoe in half. Next breaking an iron poker in three pieces, and also breaking a two foot brass rod in half. Do you think I could get on the stage as a Physical Culturist if my strength increases? An answer in next month's issue will oblige.—Yours faithfully,

A. ROWLAND.

Brighton,

ARCH ROWLAND.

There is no reason why you should not succeed on the stage, but, of course, you must study how to make your feats attractive. I shall be pleased to hear of your success.—
Ed., H. & S.