Dear Alby & Ethel.

Thanks ever so much for Ethel's letter I had no trouble reading it, as Ethel thought I might. The reason you did not hear from me is because I have had a real dose of the Flu. It came on me so quick a little over a week ago in the night, & being alone I had a rotten time. I am getting around now & will clean up what has been neglected during the time I was sick. I have a couple of offers which I will look into and see if they are worth while, you can never tell, & if not then I will be a policeman or a lawyer. I had the main interest in the wrestling promotions here & have to clear that up. They have a show brought which will perhaps be my last here. Things must be bad at Nib for I hear that quite a few have been let out including the head printer & the man who had charge of the sport goods department.

Double crossing Berry is trying to fill my job at less than half what I got. Part of the plot I guess. After the dirty deal they gave me they ask me for advice etc. Try & get it. I am not through with them by a long way. I had hoped to have boxed up my books etc & send to you before now but I have not been able. I will be glad to see you both and guess we will absorb many an hour in talk. Glad to see your love is well underway It makes me feel good to think you have an home all of your home. You wont look backwards now old friends. I certainly do hope you both will always be happy & free from the curse of sickness that has beggared me. You will hear from me more often now. I will pick up fast, though I feel that I have but a hundred pounds. Just as soon as I look these prospects over I will let you know all my definite arrangements.

Love & best regards to all
George
